

Historic, Archive Document

Do not assume content reflects current scientific knowledge, policies, or practices.

• The Baraboo Thornless Red Raspberry

THIS CUT FROM ACTUAL PHOTO

This is the new variety of red raspberry, a notice of which was printed in most papers of the United States and Canada, through the International News Service. Canes are smooth and free of thorns, and it is resistant to all diseases of the raspberry plant. This new variety has the characteristics of the everbearing varieties. As early as the earliest, a good size berry, extra sweet, and the best flavor. Hardy, a big plant maker, and a heavy bearer. Long bearing season, being picked this summer for four and one-half weeks. We have a limited number of plants for Spring of 1928. $1 each, 6 for $5, doz. $10. (Not more than 12 plants to an order). Shipped postage paid.

Please say when to ship.

C. R. TUTTLE,
Baraboo Valley Nursery (Estab. 1860)
Baraboo, Wis.

